Forum Malls to expand in India with 14 new centres, eyes festive rush

Forum Malls, the retail arm of real estate developer Prestige Group, aims to nearly double its portfolio of shopping centres by opening 14 new malls across India's top cities by 2029 as it bets on sustained demand, a top executive told Reuters. Shopping malls in big Indian cities have seen steady demand as urban consumers spend more on experiences and branded retail, even as online commerce booms.

Forum is also gearing up to launch India's first athleisure-focused mall by 2027. Covering 800,000 sq ft, or the size of roughly 10 soccer fields, the complex near Bengaluru's international airport will accommodate global sportswear labels, fitness gear, yoga studios and lifestyle brands.
